Resume:

Since 2000, I have been involved in multimedia and IT production at different levels, starting as a sound technician at events, to programming in several languages, including photography, video, web design, etc... In the last few years I kept a security guard career, at the same time I worked off and on as a freelance IT worker. After some training in the multimedia area, in 2006/2007 I joined the New Communication Technologies course at UA, having, unfortunately, only completed just over half of the course. In terms of software, in addition to knowledge of the entire Adobe range, I also have knowledge of some of the free software available, as well as CAD, 2D and 3D software, and also some programming languages. At the moment I am looking for a full-time job, having recently dedicated myself to studying the Python language and its integration into SQL databases and APIs, getting to know its main frameworks and tools as well as their integration.
